Delta Dental of Virginia Names Dr. Joseph Dill New Vice President of Professional Services and Dental Director

ROANOKE, Va. (October 16, 2013) – Delta Dental of Virginia is pleased to announce that Dr. Joseph M. Dill has joined the company as vice president of professional services and dental director. Dr. Dill serves two vital roles for the company, both overseeing the Clinical Professional Services Department and as the primary liaison to the Virginia dental community.

“We are delighted to have Dr. Dill as a member of our leadership team,” says Dyke Davies, II, senior vice president & COO of Delta Dental of Virginia. “He has a rare combination of experiences in the dental insurance industry, in public health and as a practicing dentist, which will help us carryout our mission to improve oral health in Virginia.”

Prior to moving to Virginia, Dr. Dill was dental director-Western region and director-provider contracting for Delta Dental of California. Also, he formerly was the director of dental products for Premera Blue Cross in Washington State, served in the U.S. Public Health Service, and worked in a private dental practice. Dr. Dill received his undergraduate and DDS degrees from The University of the Pacific, and he earned an MBA from the University of California, Irvine.
